

WHY MY DOG MAY NEED OSTEOPATHIC CARE?

Problems can occur in dogs for many reasons:

- ✔ Trauma & accidents
- ✔ Repetitive activities i.e. jumps
- ✔ Competitions
- ✔ Agility training
- ✔ Hereditary weakness
- ✔ Lameness
- ✔ Joint pain
- ✔ Hip problems due to age
- ✔ Post-surgery recovery

WHAT IS CANINE OSTEOPATHY?

Holistic therapy

Canine osteopathy takes a holistic approach to treating dogs by addressing the entire body, not just a local issue.

Osteopathic approach

Osteopathic assessment and treatment are tailored to meet your pet's unique needs based on age, size, breed traits, and health condition.

Osteopathic techniques

- Joint articulation
- Soft tissue techniques, such as massage, stretching, lymphatic drainage, reflex, and trigger point work;
- Joint mobilization (when necessary);
- Gentle cranial, fascial, and functional treatment.

CANINE OSTEOPATHY

Classical structural osteopathy
as applied in animal care

OSTEOPATHIC CARE

FOR DOGS OF ALL AGES & BREEDS

Canine Osteopathy supports and is complimentary to veterinary care

YOUR BELOVED PET IS TREATED BY CERTIFIED ANIMAL
OSTEOPATHS WORKING ALONG WITH YOUR VETERINARIAN TO ADDRESS STRUCTURAL PROBLEMS WITHIN THE MUSCULOSKELETAL SYSTEM.

CONDITIONS TREATED

- Muscular problems
- Gait problems
- Aging problems
- Joint flexibility
- Back Pain
- Neck Stiffness
- Hip Problems
- Poor or reduced performance levels
- Circulatory Problems
- Postoperative issues
- Osteopathy can help speed recovery and minimize compensatory strains

OSTEOPATHY FOR DOGS

Canine osteopaths are highly trained professionals who have completed a rigorous program of specialized studies at London College of Animal Osteopathy, Osteopathic Centre for Animals UK, or another recognized osteopathic school.

Most animal osteopaths have a background in veterinary medicine, human osteopathy, rehabilitation therapy, or animal healthcare.

It is mandatory for all osteopaths working with animals to adhere to ethical standards and codes of practice set by their professional association. .

OUR MISSION

To deliver safe, effective & compassionate osteopathic care to each animal patient.

OUR VALUES

Respect for dogs and their owners: we listen to your concerns, working together for the best outcome.

OUR VISION

We envision living in the world where all animals under human care have access to healthcare, shelter, and adequate nutrition.

Public promotion sponsored by

www.animalosteopathycollege.com